

Addition to Minden Community Centre

An addition is being added to the Minden Community Centre at Minden. The extension which is being constructed at the back of the arena will house the Zamboni and will also serve as a storage place for the Carnival equipment which is owned by the Minden Rotary Club. The new addition which is 40 x 60 is being built by Don Campbell Building Contractor of Minden.

This new project when completed will serve a great many important purposes.

New LCBO store under construction in Minden

The new L.C.B.O. store which is being constructed next to the present Brewers Warehouse store in Minden is well underway, and it won't be too long before it will be open for business. We understand that it will be officially opened sometime in December.

The new store which will replace the old one that is presently located across from the John Welch and Son Ltd. Funeral home will have a larger floor space and more spacious parking facilities for the customers.

Smash windows

There were some incidents of broken windows in the Coboconk OPP detachment area over Hallowe'en, according to the police record. These included two plate glass windows at the Red and White store in Norland with an estimated value of $300. total.

Construction began on new resort complex

Construction began this week on the new resort complex to be known as The Pinestone Inn and Country Club. The resort is being developed by One 2 One Corporation and the General Contractor is Rusgate Construction, Toronto. Architect for the Inn is Gordon Ridgely of Hamilton, Ridgely and Bennett, Toronto. Completion target date is June 1, 1976.

The Inn will contain 36 motel style units, a dining room with 90 seats, cocktail lounge with 80 seats, a banquet and conference room for 100 persons. The President of Rusgate Construction, Mr. Perry Connelly, was most impressed with the site for the new Inn as well as the progress being made on the Golf Course. Mr. Connelly who has built fourteen Holiday Inns in Ontario and the Caribbean expects his full crews to be on the site by November 15th.

The President of One 2 One Corporation, Mr. Wren Blair, was also in town this weekend to sign the construction contracts and to have a quiet weekend away from the hockey wars.

Canadian Legion honours soldiers

On Tuesday morning at the hour of 10 a.m. in the Royal Canadian Legion Auditorium, a service of Remembrance will be held to pay tribute to those brave men who laid down their lives making it possible for us to live in peace and comfort in the finest land under the sun.

Is it asking too much of the citizens of this area to pause on Tuesday morning for an hour to participate in this act of Remembrance.

Following the service at the Legion a parade led by the Haliburton Legion Pipe and Drums will make its way to the Cenotaph on Highland Street for the laying of the wreaths and the act of Remembrance at 11 a.m. Everyone is invited to take part in these services.

In the evening a Remembrance Day dinner will be held in the Royal Canadian Legion for Legionnaires and their wives and/or friend.

Plea for Industrial Base Aid

Eakins urges more help for smaller communities

Liberal MPP John Eakins of Victoria-Haliburton has urged the Provincial Government to assist smaller communities in Ontario in the development of a stronger industrial base.

Mr. Eakins did this during discussion of the estimates of the Ontario Ministry of Industry and Tourism.

"Last January the government announced plans for spending literally millions of dollars on a new industrial park in the Spencerville area of Eastern Ontario," said Mr. Eakins, "and I feel very strongly that the money involved would be used to much greater advantage by being given to communities across the province which desperately need assistance in developing a stronger industrial base."

"Apparently the minister of industry and tourism feels that there is virtually nothing his ministry can do to attract industry to specific areas; but undoubtedly his ministry and the provincial government as a whole has a direct responsibility to make decisions on the future development of Metropolitan Toronto, for example.

"Urban development is progressing at a pace which is evidently out of control, from the point of view of housing, transportation facilities, and the entire socio-economic situation is a matter of concern to people living in the Metro area. The people of Toronto have voiced their own feelings very clearly by their choice of elected officials in the last three or four years. There is a great need for a slow down in the development and expansion of the metropolitan area. London, England, faced with a similar situation took action in this connection by creating a greenbelt around the city and giving enormous incentives to the location of industry in areas away from the metropolis. "Our small communities are experiencing great difficulties. They are losing their young people and their skilled workers to the cities because that is where the jobs are to be found." Industry is attracted to the city core because of the availability of manpower. We have, in effect, a vicious circle, and we must take action before we have a crisis on our hands.

"Sooner or later we must take the bull by the horns, and inaugurate an over-all provincial plan of development to assist our smaller communities. In some cases a population increase of 2,000 people would be of tremendous assistance, whilst even 500 people would make a noticeable difference in other areas. At the same time, we would be removing some of the intense pressure being experienced in our urban centres."

Addressing his remarks to the minister, Mr. Eakins recalled that last February 21st, while, addressing the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, you noted that my riding has contributed substantially to the province's tourism industry. As you said Mr. Minister, Haliburton is one of the major growth areas in Ontario in terms of private cottage growth: in fact our growth rate is faster than province-wide figures.

"I mention this Mr. Chairman, to underscore the importance of these estimates - they are important to Victoria-Haliburton and they are important to Ontario. On that point Mr. Minister, let me say, I share your concern on tenders extended by the Organizing Committee for the 1976 Olympic Games. In particular I quote from the Globe and Mail that the only companies who need apply are those "having their principal place of business in the Province of Quebec and able to manufacture in Quebec." Now we all find this offensive. But Mr. Minister, I cannot agree with your fellow Cabinet Minister, the Treasurer, who said that "as the biggest and wealthiest Province in Confederation, we have to live with this."

The Haliburton Travelways Huskies are preparing to open the 1975-76 hockey season but up until time of writing the team is still without a coach. Rumor has it that Brian Black may return to coach the club.

A few weeks ago Ron Ellis, then with the Toronto Maple Leafs shocked the sports world with the announcement of his retirement at the age of 30. After a long hard look, Ron decided to hang up his skates. Ron is well known in the Haliburton area as he was instructor at the Haliburton Hockey Haven for a couple of years. Ron decided that since his dad, Randy Ellis is still playing hockey with the Huntsville Oldtimers hockey club that he would donate him his skates. Randy Ellis in former years played hockey at the old Haliburton arena with Lindsay.

We noticed in the Toronto Star recently that the N.H.L. Old Timers hockey club are now taking exhibition engagements for the upcoming hockey season. It might be a good idea for either Minden or Haliburton to arrange a game with them and donate the proceeds to minor hockey.

The Bracebridge Gazette reports that the Minden Monarchs who are in the same league as Bracebridge have a young team and they admit that they won't be a push-over this season.

The Haliburton Curling Club will swing into action on Monday, November 10th for the 1975 curling season.

Monarchs get good following of hockey fans

The Minden Monarchs Intermediate C. hockey club are starting to get a good following of hockey fans. The season is still very young and the team has got off to a very shaky start but we are looking for big things from them in the future.

The team who are still looking for their first win of the season have a line-up of good talent which we are sure will make things happen in the coming months. Local hockey fans who will be attending the home games of the Monarchs at the Minden Arena can rest assured that they will be seeing some very thrilling hockey action from a team that never quits.

The Minden club are in a tough league with some real good teams so when you attend the games you will be guaranteed of seeing some of the best teams in the O.H.A. in action.

This Friday night, November 7th, the Monarchs will be playing in Bradford but will be returning to the Minden Arena on Sunday to face the same Bradford club with game time at 2:00 p.m.

Now that the ice is ready and the cold weather is approaching the Haliburton Curling Club is prepared for another season. All this week the ice is available for coaching, instruction and pick up games. Anyone interested in trying curling is invited to come out between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. any night until Friday to "give it a go".

On Saturday, November 8, 1975 at 7 p.m. There will be an Early Bird Spiel for all interested curlers. This is to kick off the season and give the new members a chance to meet the other members on and off the ice. The club is looking forward to another busy year of curling and a full schedule has been planned.

There are still some vacancies in all leagues so there is still a chance to get into the fun, activity, exercise and socializing at the curling club. Regular season play will begin on Monday, November 10, 1975.

Snowmobile season approaches

Over the past fifteen years the fastest growing activity in North America has got to be outdoor sports, in particular, winter outdoor sports!

More and more sports evolved from these activities, clubs and associations were formed to bring these people with a common interest together.

All of a sudden the Canadian public wasn't the sedate, conservative many considered them to be and internally another major change was going on as well. The Canadian public felt a little easier about trying these seeming childish activities, like motorcycles, ATV's, snowmobiles, etc. All of a sudden the motorized sports were acceptable and more and more people of all ages and all walks of life had no fear of the social stigma of riding a snowmobile.

Since that time one of these sports, snowmobiling, has evolved to such a point that thousands and thousands of families are out on motorized sleds every weekend and even during the week. From figures based on a study taken by the International Snowmobile Industry Association in 1974, there are 44,741 miles of groomed trails available for snowmobile use in the majority of the North American snow belt area. The Province of Quebec is in the lead with 22,000 miles of trails and Ontario and Minnesota running in second and third position with 6,500 and 5,785 miles respectively.

These trails, in most cases run in very close proximity of resort areas, clubs, restaurants, motels and there's never a shortage of night-life for those who are interested. With the great increase of snowmobiling, resorts, clubs and restaurants close to these trail systems have enjoyed a great increase in winter or off-season business. Different snowmobile clubs and associations organize outings, sugar parties, tours, etc. for their members, in many case making use of the different establishments along the trail route. Not only have the riding areas increased and improved but so have the machines. The snowmobiles, built over the past few years, have progressed so much so that they can now be considered dependable, comfortable, responsive and enjoyable. Manufacturing has finally caught up with the demand requirements of the consumer. There are electric start kits so that the better half doesn't have to tug on the recoil starter cord, there are fuel pumps to do away with the vapor-lock problems of earlier sleds, there are wide ski stances and wide tracks to improve stability and flotation, there is increased engine and belt life so that you can spend more time on the trail rather than in the garage, and above all, there's the comfort and the responsiveness that does away with the fatiguing backaches and soreness so common of the first few years production.

In addition to the snowmobiles' manufactured progression, there's also a much greater public acceptance of the sport. With more and more maintained trails all over the country there's a far lower number of snowmobile injuries and fatalities so common of a few years ago. Farmers don't "booby-trap" their own property to keep the snowmobilers off his land. With the snowmobile trails there is no longer a need for the farmers field, but it is interesting to note that an increasing number of land owners are opening more and more of their land for trail use, and the restrauteur or resort owner has found that more and more of the "better class of people" are riding snowmobiles and are willing to spend money in his particular establishment. Little do they realize, the snowmobilers have always been the same people only now the machines are quieter and cleaner, the clothing is more colourful and stylish and these enthusiasts are bringing their families along because they're free of the fear of walking out of the woods.

Today, snowmobiling has become the "in" sport. Much of this "in" attitude can be accorded to the fact that these snowmobile trails run adjacent to the best resorts, and through the most interesting terrain. No longer is there the strong dislike between skiers and snowmobilers as each sport has seen members of their ranks moving back and forth between skiing and snowmobiling. Both are out to enjoy the winter terrain, each using a different mode of transportation and in a few operating instances are they very close to each other. Similarly in both sports one can either pit himself against his surroundings and, hopefully, come out a winner or he can maintain a leisurely pace, looking over the scenery and taking in the beauty of winter.

Snowmobiling today has become a full family sport and every member is able to take an active part in it. It's a healthy sport in the fact that the participants are out in the clean fresh country air. Without realizing it there is physical exertion involved but because it's hidden under the guise of entertainment, it's not readily noticeable as exertion. Each time one goes out on a snowmobile, one meets new people, people with the same active interests, people who are happy to forget the problems of their careers and are out enjoying the winter, instead of huddling inside an apartment waiting for the warm weather.

NEW BLOOD IN CLUB BOARD

The list of eighteen persons nominated for directorship in the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association was reviewed at the regular meeting October 29th, with all retaining positions in the organization. Twelve will make up the Board of Directors in accordance with the Club's constitution and the remaining six become Directors at Large representing their respective areas of the County. Eleven members of the two groups are newly elected.

The Executive Officers, chosen by popular vote, are: President: Ken Fielding, currently of Haliburton but soon to take up residence in his new home at Mountain Lake. Ken was last year's social convenor. The H.C.C. on his pickup truck stands for Highlands Cottage Care.

Vice President: Steve Barry, Minden, part of the Prentic Roads organization. Steve has been around the HCSA for a long time. A one time Secretary, he retains his office of last season, having declined the higher office.

Secretary-Treasurer: a combining of the two offices: Barbara Kennedy, Haliburton. A single lady and the only lady on the Board, Barb is newly elected.

Immediate Past President: Bob Jennings of Sandy Lane at Halls Lake. Besides keeping his spotless cottages open for visiting snowmobilers Bob finds time to MC at social events and help out at most trail activities.

Also at the meeting, working committees were established. Bob Jennings takes over Membership. Jim Lackey, proprietor of Bayview Birches at Fort Irwin is the new Social Convenor. Jim Solway will direct the club's involvement in Snowarama. Steve Berry will continue the research and development of a new and more practical map. Brian Hunter of Lakeshore Marine carries on as Historian. Doctor John Purc, Minden Dentist, will tackle Ways and Means. Yours truly will retain Publicity and I will also chair the Trails Committee. Other Directors, Wentworth Hogg, (last Year's Secretary) Tom Kirkpatrick and Bill Picard, all of Haliburton, will be fitted into committees according to their talents. Bill Picard and John Purc are especially interested in bridge building, Tom Kirkpatrick in the marking of trails.

Members and non-members are offered a little friendly advice. Carry your registration and insurance cards and generally watch your P's and Q's. The O.P.P. is represented on the board this year in the person of Jim Solway. He has a sharp eye.

Longest standing member of the Board is yours truly, having been elected to the Interim Executive who organized the Association in 1951. They can't seem to get rid of me.

Directors at Large are: Norm Gemmell and Rick Sullivan, of Oshawa and Denna Lake in Lutterworth; Arnold Schroter, of Lindsay and Kinmount; Rick Perry of Scarborough and Maple Lake; William C. Harlowe of Scarborough and West Guilford; and Pat Kennedy a former Secretary currently of Mindemoya and Haliburton.

TRAIL MARKING

Many miles of snowmobile trails remain un-marked throughout the County and some that were marked are already in need of an overhauling.

In the expectation that the Ontario Government will adopt a universal signing system it is hardly practical for a club to invest in a system that may soon become obsolete. Last year the HCSA obtained, very cheaply, ten thousand paper signs that didn't prove too practical. Their light green color fades to white in the sun and the wind and rain pretty well destroys them in one season. A number of more permanent signs were looked at, ranging from water-proofed cardboard through plastic to light metal. Some with permanent reflective arrows. All were good, but priced completely out of sight.

A decision was made, finally, to go with what we've got. The cheap paper signs will be doctored up with a splash of day-glo orange and a small square of reflective tape. Several hundred were given the treatment after adjournment of the last meeting. All we need now are a lot of busy hands with staple guns to tack them up along the trails. And some snow, so we can get out and get at it.

Monarchs downed by Penetang 6-1

The superb goaltending by Minden Monarchs Larry Harten not only kept the score to a total of six against, but also showed that you must have more than one individual effort.

This hockey club consists of as much talent that has been ever compiled from this area, but individual play is not enough! The sooner these guys start playing as a team the sooner you fans will have a winning team!

The controversy the past week or so, about abusive hockey etc. from the Government and covered so vastly by the newspapers, T.V., etc. most certainly has thrown a fear into the referees that handled this game. To criticize an official is definitely not in our line, but to use these individuals as a lever for a lost game is also a thing we are not in favour of, but to each team Minden and Penetang it was felt by anyone who attended that this type of officiating was notorious towards both participants involved.

The Monarchs will continue to work out at the local arena to better themselves for their upcoming encounters.

Hunting

As we go to press we feel that ourselves and a few other business's are the only ones left in town.

Years ago the men of the community would file out of local jobs and homes to head into their favourite areas to hunt the wildlife of deer, moose and bear. The main concern was to stalk up enough meat for the hard winter ahead! As all you readers are aware of, such is not the case today.

If any man was to go hunting with this thought in mind, you are only to read up on the Governments statistics of your chances and you would expect to find very few hunting!

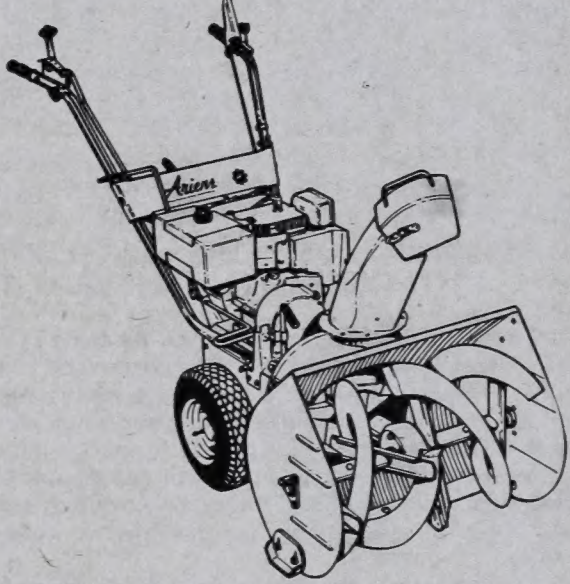

Yes, there are still a limit of deer around and other big game, but we feel that the hunting camp is still the best place for companionship, fun, to talk over the odd miss and just a place for a week or two to get away from it all.

History of Poppy Day

Submitted by Captain J. Waywell of the Salvation Army

The Poppy is one of the oldest of all flowers, as it dates back to the early ages.

In the legends of ancient China, and even almost up to modern times, the Poppy was known as the Flower of Forgetfulness because of the fact that the opium which was distilled from the Poppy caused sleep to those who used it, and consequently forgetfulness of all that one might want to remember.

This meaning was continued, not only in China but throughout other parts of the world, until about the time of the Napoleonic Wars when some observant person and writer noted the fact that on the fields where battles had been fought, which were unproductive and were bare waste before the conflict, after the battle and the burying of the youths on the field, these waste places blossomed forth into vast seas of the scarlet blossoms of the Poppy.

This botanical phenomenon was very obvious at Waterloo, Dettigen and other battle fields.

Notwithstanding the fact that professors and students of botany visited these battle fields and attempted to solve the mystery of the phenomenon, yet, even today, no one can account for something which is a definitely defined fact - that POPPIES GROW IN PROFUSION on battle fields where before these fields were more or less desert with no grass or weeds growing.

During the Great War many of the veterans of the conflict had an ample opportunity of seeing for themselves how Poppies grow in fields following great battles, and it would appear that these battle fields and Poppies contained therein have set themselves the task of making the Poppy the "FLOWER OF REMEMBRANCE" which is thought of today quite exclusive of that old thought that the Poppy was the Flower of Forgetfulness.

Enjoy the hunt

The Annual Fall madness is upon us again. Yes it's hunting season, many employees take this time of year for their annual vacation while some of the local businessmen close up shop when they get wrapped up with the hunting fever.

Swarms of hunters have descended upon the Highlands of Haliburton, eager for an outing and a chance to stock their freezers with a winter supply of meat.

Some hunters who are inexperienced seem to assume that they are hunting in some sort of city park and go charging off into the bush with gay abandon. In the process many hunters, far to many, manage to wind up lost or shooting at the first thing that moves. We don't want anyone accidentally shot or lost in the bush.

When a hunter is lost it takes time and costs money. Sadly there is no reason for better than 90 percent of the missing hunters who end up in that predicament through their own carelessness and negligence.

Enjoy the hunt, but be careful. We can't afford to lose a hunter.

Haliburton News Letter

The 1975 Hunting Season is underway and hunters are at present in their hunting camps. It will be interesting when the season is over to see just how many hunting camps get their count.

John Sibley of Essonville passed away at the Red Cross Hospital in Haliburton on Saturday, October 25th, 1975. He was in his 91st year. The late Mr. Sibley was the beloved husband of Amelia Hayman and loving father of Eldon, Evelyn (Mrs. Ted Saxby) of Essonville, Viola (Mrs. James Dunford) of Harcourt and Ken of Peterborough. The deceased rested at the Funeral Chapel of John Welch and Son Ltd., Minden until Monday, October 27th where the service was held at 1:30 p.m. Interment was at Essonville Cemetery.

Canada on November 10 will issue an 8-cent stamp for the 50th Anniversary of the Royal Canadian Legion. The stamp features the name of the organization in both English and French, along with the Legion's Crest, a bugle and the dates. The stamp will be printed in panels of 50 stamps.

Unexpected weather changes are always in store for Ontario drivers during these fall months...rain fog patches, and in some areas even snow. Remember to cut your speed to match the conditions, says the Ontario Safety League.

The annual meeting of the Minden Agricultural Society will be held at the Municipal Council Chambers in Minden tonight (Wednesday, November 5, at 8:00 p.m. Purpose of the meeting is for the election of Officers for the 112th Annual County Fair in Minden and General business.

They say that vacations are a little like love-anticipated with relish, experienced with inconvenience, and remembered with nostalgia.

Tonight (Wednesday) at the Beaver Theatre in Minden the Carnarvon United Church Choir are sponsoring the motion picture "That's Entertainment".

For many years December was Canada's worst month for fatal traffic accidents. That was before the Canada Safety Council designated December 1st - 7th as Safe Driving Week each year.

The picture has now changed and December's fatal accident rate has declined considerably in relation to the rate for other months. It is clear that the Safe Driving Week campaign does reduce accidents, injuries and deaths.

The accident rate is still too high and further improvement is necessary. Much better results can be achieved if every driver in Canada will accept his full share of responsibility to drive safely. This is a responsibility he owes to his family and to all who share our public streets and thoroughfares. It is a responsibility I ask each driver to accept in full each time he drives a motor vehicle.

Let's hope that this hunting season which is now in progress will go accident free.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Your paper recently printed an article saying that Esson Lake was polluted, making property owners on the lake quite upset and some of them who have children especially quite frightened.

We of Esson Lake would like you to write a retraction to this article unless you have definite proof that the article is true and not just something that one person thought to be true.

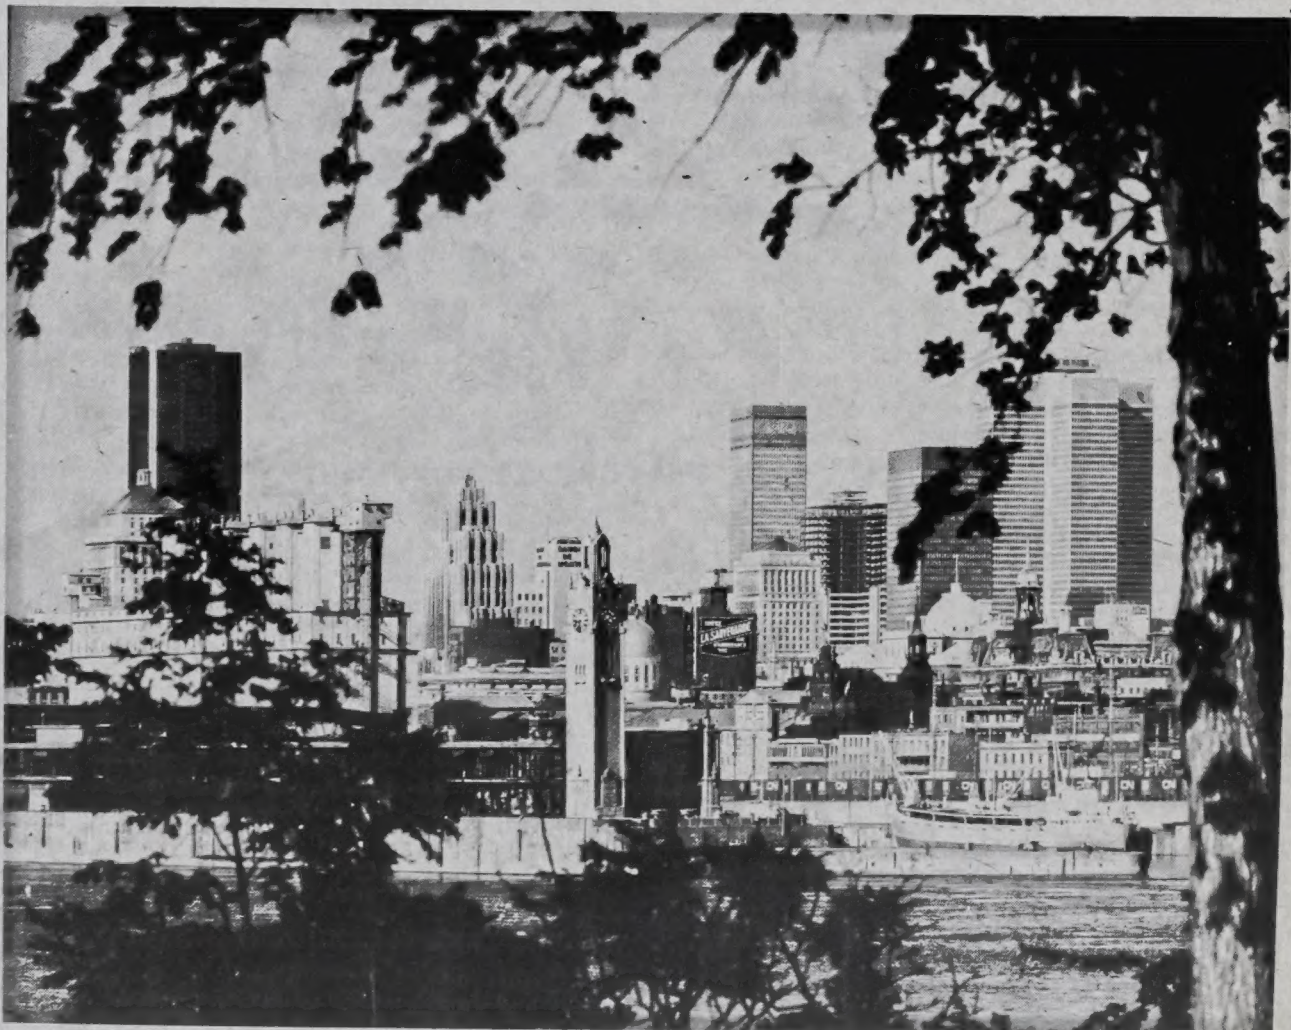

My husband and I are very proud owners of a cottage on this lake and we have always been very happy with the fact that we were located on a clean lake with great summer activities as well as winter fun with our family and friends.

We have had the water tested, right after your article came out, and these tests (3 in all) from 3 different areas all came backed marked completely negative and the water marked fit for drinking.

Please print something in your paper to make the people of Esson Lake feel better about the situation as we all like our locations, and the people of the area, and we want to stay.

Yours truly,
Lyle & Bernice McIntyre

I SIZE UP STUDENTS
BABY CLIMBS UP ME

Bill Smiley

End of summer notes: back to work; babies; the speed limit; and anything else that crops up.

It's good to get back to work. For a month. At first there's a general feeling of excitement as the fall term begins at school Bonhomie among the staff as summer experiences are exchanged and tans are compared. The challenge of facing a hundred and some new faces in the classroom. The fine September weather.

Even the students are happy to get back. For a month. They, too, exchange summer anecdotes, greet old friends, and begin making new ones. There is a feeling of liveliness in the air.

One of the favourite pastimes for the students as school re-opens is sizing up the teachers.

"Yeah, he's not a bad guy, but you can walk all over him. His classes are a mob scene."

"She's a good teacher, knows her stuff, but she's so dull, no sensa humour, it makes your teeth ache."

"He's a real mean (deleted). Makes ya work like a dog."

And so on. They're usually pretty shrewd in their assessments. What they don't realize is that their teachers are doing the same. "There's a bad little devil; have to keep an eye on him. Oh, no, not Joe repeating his year. Why did they put him in my class again? There's a bright girl; good-looking too." And so on.

Utterly bewildered for a month are the new kids in Grade 9. They come in all sizes, from tiny shrimps to hulking giants. Some of them come from small country schools. To be dumped in a huge, complex building housing daily about 1700 people, including staff, is rather frightening for them.

They get lost. That's reasonable; even some of the teachers get lost. But the kids lose their books, forget where their lockers are or if they find them, have forgotten the combination for the lock. They have to unravel all the do's and don'ts of a huge and baffling new system.

But they get sorted out and after a month, they're old hands, just as cocky as all the others.

Now for babies. Thank goodness I'm not a young mother. We've been having a visit from our grandbabbies, and when it was over, I felt ten years older.

He's a beautiful child and a healthy one. But he's as active and agile and slippery as an eel.

Unfortunately, his gran had cracked ribs, was in considerable pain and could scarcely hold him or lift him. As a result, she wasn't much good, as an over-sized toy. That's all grandparents are, when you're eight months old. They're far better than a rattle. They're softer (in more ways than one), they make the appropriate noises, they pick you up and kiss you when you fall down, they sing to you and joggle you on their knees, and so on.

Well, Nicov Chen "took a shine", as they say, to me as his new toy, "Ah, look. He loves his grandad". The women would coo, when he'd crawl straight to me, look up imploringly and begin to ascend me as though I were Mount Everest.

His technique was impressive. I was wearing nothing but shorts most of the time. He would reach up from the floor, grab me by the hair on my legs with a grip like an orangutan, pull himself to his feet, grinning with triumph and swaying around, ready to fall, bump his head and start yelling.

Another beseeching look, and I'd hoist him onto my knee. Then he'd turn around, grab me by the hair on my chest, and pull himself up for a little jump, jump, jump, facing me. When he got tired of that, he'd start grabbing my nose and trying to pull it out, or poking at my eyes, or tearing at an ear.

Suddenly, he'd squirm around and want down. On the floor, he'd head, at startling speed and with a demonic grin, straight for a standing floor lamp. He loved it because when you shook it, from ground level, it made a nice jingling sound. It is also heavy enough to brain a baby.

So grandad leaps across the room and grabs the lamp in the nick of time, points the kid in another direction and sinks wearily into his chair. Sixty seconds later, he feels a painful twisting of the hair on his legs, and off we go again. One of us never got tired of this little routine.

He's a happy babbie, but, on the occasions when he isn't you could hear him two blocks away. Whenever his Mum went shopping, I baby-sat and enjoyed it thoroughly, but did my sitting in a constant state of fear that he'd get unhappy. I'm glad, once again, that I'm not a young mother, but an old grandad.

Finally, the speed limit. There is a proposal that it be reduced from 70 on the big highways to 55 m.p.h. This was done in the U.S. and Germany, among others, during the oil crisis. There is quite a lot of opposition here. I'm all for it. It's been proved that it cuts the carnage on the highways. Save lives, save money, save energy. How can anyone be against it? And what's the big rush, anyway? It's time we slowed down.

Scott tells conference

Hunger greater threat than bomb

William C. Scott

Hunger now poses a greater threat to the world's people than "the bomb"...

This view was expressed by Victoria-Haliburton MP William Scott during the 21st Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference in New Delhi, India.

Mr. Scott told the conference that "while we were worrying about nuclear bombs, several times more people were dying of starvation every year than were killed by the bomb that fell on Hiroshima... We found that hundreds of thousands more people were dying of diseases because their diets were not adequate... We found to our horror that many thousands of people die of hunger, even though food has been sent them by relief agencies because there were no distribution facilities available to get the food where it was needed."

CANNOT AFFORD LUXURY

"We cannot afford the luxury of discussing world population growth and food in abstract terms. We don't have the time," Mr. Scott went on to say. "Either we started too late, or the problem has escalated beyond our comprehension or expectations. How it happened is now academic, but the fact remains that we are faced with a problem of monumental proportions and it is going to take time, money, effort and a great deal of good will on the part of all of us to wrestle this problem to the ground."

The federal member told the conference: "For many years, all through the 1960's, our thoughts were occupied with the impending threat of nuclear war, and all that time the super powers were bending every effort to head off such a holocaust. We know now that the threat was not as great as we had thought."

MORE SINISTER PROBLEM

"However, while we were thus occupied, another and more sinister problem was taking shape. The population of the world was increasing by leaps and bounds. Some areas of the world were becoming super-saturated with people, and more people meant more mouths to feed. We found also that agricultural production was not keeping pace with the population explosion, and some other horrible truths were beginning to come through to us."

NOT SQUARE ONE

"The mere fact that I am able to relate some of these things, shows that we are not and one that only we can solve."

"I mentioned the matter of a lack of distribution facilities to get food and other essentials where they are needed. This is an area that will certainly come under scrutiny for the reason that in many areas where there is a food problem, it is not because the food is not available, but because the food cannot be transported for one reason or another to the people who need it. The question of food distribution throughout the world has been one of contention for a very long time, and when it is established that this is one of the causes of hardship and possibly even starvation, then and only then will it get the attention it deserves."

IT'S NO SECRET

"It is no secret that there are parts of the world where the growth in population is placing serious and even catastrophic stresses on all of the essential services in the area. I refer of course to the ability of the area to provide food, medical services, adequate housing and job opportunities for the people of the area, in fact we've already had some experience with some of the more simplistic solutions that have been proposed, and I would like to deal first with the proposal that population re-distribution is the logical answer. On the face of it, it does seem to be the most obvious answer, but it does not take into account the fact that we are not dealing with human beings. We are dealing with people of varying cultures, colors, language preferences, and with people who have hopes and desires and aspirations. In many cases we find that an area that seems to offer space and opportunity for immigration lacks the very things that a potential immigrant is looking for. Perhaps the climate is the opposite extreme of the climate the immigrant will be leaving behind."

PERSONAL ATTITUDES

"We also find personal attitudes standing in the way of immigrants who want to leave an area that is saturated, and that does not offer opportunities for rising above poverty and deprivation. We know that there is presently some evidence of racial tension in England, and in other countries in the Commonwealth. I found evidence of racial tension throughout Canada when I toured my country as a member of our committee on immigration. In some areas the whites resented an influx of people of another color, and in some areas I found that the people resented an influx of English-speaking immigrants, while others resented an influx of French-speaking immigrants."

SIMILAR PROBLEMS

"Every country, I believe, has similar problems, and we are simply going to have to deal with them as they come up. However, I must say to you that re-distribution of population is not going to be the principle method of dealing with the problem of over-population."

Victoria Laundry adds new division to business

A Lindsay father and son business team has made the cover piece of a national magazine.

Ken and Blair Bailey of Victoria Laundry and Dry Cleaning look out at readers of this national publication serving the fabric care industry as they pick up their copy. It is a long time since people from Lindsay have received this kind of prominence in the publishing field. The last recallable occasion was when an international magazine used a picture of the town's chief of police on its front cover. (Long time residents of the town will probably recall that Police Chief John Hunter was captured by a cameraman as he wrestled with a bull during the "bloodless bull fights").

The Bailey's are featured in the current issue of Canadian Cleaner and Launderer because of their association with "Apparel-image"... a uniform garment rental division of their business which they took on about a year ago.

Blair Bailey says "Apparel-image has all the answers to the garment rental business".

Blair's father says in the article "I wanted to retire, but my son decided to keep it in the family. To justify his existence he then decided to enlarge the volume of garment rental - and that led to Apparel-image. Now I'm deeply involved in the selling and customer relations work. It worked out better than we dared hope - and I'm well satisfied."

Curry Motors Limited of Haliburton are the first firm in Haliburton County to go into this complete program.

Vice-principal addresses Rotarians

Last Thursday at the regular weekly meeting of the Haliburton Rotary Club the guest speaker was Mr. Gerald Irish, Vice Principal of the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School. Mr. Irish gave the Rotarians a talk on the history of the Caboose No. 771J7, located here on the shore of Head Lake, and also explained the operation of the Information Booth during the summer months. He also suggested as a project the rental of part of the CNR Station, and the placing of the engine and caboose on a railway spur in that location.

Haliburton Highlights

Poole's Closing out sale in Haliburton was a terrific success and each day of the sale saw hundreds of people in the store to pick up the many tremendous bargains that were on display.

Work continues on the addition to the present Stedmans store in Haliburton and what a large addition it is. When completed it will be the largest store in Haliburton.

The first Hunters' Ball will be held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Haliburton this Friday evening, November 7th from 9 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. It's licenced and admission is Bucks a buck and Does free. Music will be supplied by Haliburton's own Summer Fantasy. The second Hunters' Ball will be held on Friday, November 14th.

Things seem to be really booming in the Village of Haliburton with new sidewalks going in, a new bridge being built, people hooking onto the village sewage system and plenty of construction work going on all over the place.

60th Anniversary

On Sunday, September 21st, 1975 nearly 100 friends and relatives attended an openhouse to celebrate the 60th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wunker. The celebration was held from 2 to 5 in the afternoon at the Wunker's residence at Miners' Bay. Mr. and Mrs. Wunker were married in Cincinnati, Ohio on September 22, 1915. In 1938 they moved to Miners' Bay where with their family they have operated Miners' Bay Lodge.

Among other guests were Mrs. Lil Van Houten and Mr. Wes Wunker, both from Indiana and brother and sister to Mr. Wunker. A surprise visit by Rev. Don Wunker from the Dominican Republic helped make his parents anniversary a memorable occasion.

Congratulatory messages were received from the Queen, Prime Minister Trudeau, Mr. Stanfield, Mr. Diefenbaker, Bill Scott, M.P., Premier Davis, Glen Hodgson and the Municipality of Lutterworth.

Minden OPP reports

Hallowe'en night in Haliburton County saw most citizens taking a fairly respectable course of action with very little damage being reported. In other words it was one of the quietest Hallowe'en nights on record. This is the way that Hallowe'en is meant to be, its a night for the children not a night for a bunch of hoodlums to go out and cause a lot of vandalism.

The Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police are pleased to say that Hallowe'en 1975 was relatively quiet with no reports of any treats having been made hazardous (ie. pins etc.) Two disturbing incidents marred the night (1) White paint was thrown on the front door and office windows of the Dorset Elementary School and (2) Stones were apparently thrown through a window and a large lighted sign at the Wilberforce Watson Community Centre damaged: $1500.

Nine policemen awarded gold medals

Nine police officers in four provinces have been awarded gold medals for "exceptional devotion to duty" in combatting crimes against banks during the past year.

The officers were guests of the Canadian Bankers' Association (CBA) at the annual conference of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police (CACP) in Toronto where the medals were presented.

The Canadian Banks' Law Enforcement Award offered by the CBA consists of a gold medal supported by a grey and maroon ribbon, and a framed citation.

Those honored were: Constable James Agnew, Vancouver Police Department; Constables Brian Tuckey and Robert Ellergodt, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Coquitlam, B.C.; Detective Leonard Daniel and Constable Robert Martin, Winnipeg Police Department; Constable Michael VanBerkel, St. Thomas (Ont.) Police Department;

Constable Ronald Crossley, Metropolitan Toronto Police Department; Constable Gilles Veronneau, Quebec Police Force, Longueuil; and Chief of Police Maurice Houle, Repentigny (Que.) Police Department.

The presentations were made jointly by CBA president J. Allan Boyle, executive vice-president and chief general manager, Toronto Dominion Bank, and CACP president Jim Gregory of Victoria.

A police dog, involved in the same incident for which the Winnipeg officers won their medals was also recognized with a special presentation for his role.

The awards are made for "meritorious police action" in combatting crimes against banks, including robbery, fraud, embezzlement and extortion.

Constable Agnew captured an armed robbery suspect following a holdup at a Toronto Dominion Bank branch in Vancouver on March 26, 1975. RCMP constables Tuckey and Ellergodt were involved in a running gunfight with bank robbers after a Bank of Montreal branch in Coquitlam was held up a few days later.

Detective Daniel and Constable Martin of Winnipeg were also involved in an exchange of shots while chasing a suspect after a Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch in Winnipeg had been held up in January this year. Constable Martin would undoubtedly have been shot at close range but for the action of his police dog

Axel in attacking one of the suspects.

Constable VanBerkel literally grabbed an armed bank robbery suspect after a Toronto Dominion Bank branch was held up in St. Thomas in June last year.

Constable Crossley of Toronto, received his award for initiative and fast thinking in his capture of an extortion suspect in November, 1974 after the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and Toronto Dominion banks in downtown Toronto had received notes demanding large sums of money and threatening a massive bomb explosion.

Constable Veronneau was off-duty when a Provincial Bank of Canada branch in Longueuil was held up in February last year. He was approaching the branch as the alarm sounded, followed the suspect, arrested him and recovered the stolen money.

Chief Houle of Repentigny saw three armed men enter a Bank Canadian National branch in June, 1974. He waited outside with drawn gun, shot one who resisted, and assisted in the capture of the other two.

Boy Scouts Movement

Introduction of Beaver program in the County

On Wednesday, November 12, at 8 p.m. a special meeting will be held at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Minden, for the purpose of beginning Beaver Programmes in Haliburton County. About two years ago the Boy Scouts Movement of Canada started this programme for boys of pre-cub age. Throughout the country it has become a fairly popular programme for boys from 5-7 years of age. No doubt the programme has a special appeal for these younger children. It does not in any way take away from the Cub and Scout programmes; however, it does serve as an excellent introduction to the Scouting movement.

Mr. R.A. Girardin, Provincial Field Executive of Quinte Region, will be present to introduce the Beaver programme. Parents from all over Haliburton County, especially those whose children can be admitted to this new programme, are urged to attend this special meeting.

'Not a waste' says professor

University of Guelph defends grain feeding of beef cattle.

A University of Guelph animal scientist has cited as 'misleading' reports that using beef cattle as protein producers is an inefficient method of using grain, especially in a protein short world.

Prof. David N. Mowat, in a recent interview, said that many claims have been made recently that producing beef is inefficient and wasteful because of the amount of grain fed, grain that could potentially be fed directly to humans.

'To produce the quality of beef desired by North American consumers,' said Prof. Mowat, 'a certain amount of grain feeding is usually necessary.'

Grain feeding also speeds up the beef production process and helps to provide a steady flow of the product through the food chain-year-round.

'But how much grain is really consumed in producing beef,' questions Prof. Mowat.

Only part of a steer's life is actually spent in a feedlot, he says.

'Roughly two-thirds of the total slaughter weight of many steers is put on while grazing in the pasture or being fed hay. Pasture and hay are often produced on land not suitable for other types of cropping,' he said.

'In fact, approximately two-thirds of the world's agricultural land is non-arable and only suitable for grazing. In Ontario, non-arable land occupies some 38 per cent of the total agricultural land.'

Economics also dictates the type of beef produced and the type of feed used, says the Guelph scientist. When grain is cheap higher levels are fed to cattle; when the price goes up, cattle rely mainly on roughages.

Professor Mowat

'An increasingly important livestock feed source is food and industrial wastes,' says Prof. Mowat, 'such as brewer's grains, canning factory and grain milling wastes, and cereal 'dockage'.'

In 1967, for example, food crop by-products accounted for about an eighth of the total feed units in livestock production in North America. That number has increased recently because of the concerns for pollution as well as economics.

Other food and industrial wastes have the potential for being used as livestock feed, and research in this area is presently underway at the University of Guelph. Scientists, for example, are attempting to upgrade the energy available to cattle in cereal straw and corn stover, millions of tons of which are produced each year in the grain growing process.

'Beef cattle do not compete with people for a large part of their nutrient sources,' said Prof. Mowat. 'Indeed, it is only through cattle and sheep that a substantial part of our natural resources, such as pasture land and food and industrial crop wastes, can be converted to a form beneficial to man.'

'While significant quantities of grain are still fed to beef cattle,' says Prof. Mowat, 'its conversion to beef protein is much more efficient than most people realize. And just as important, the quantity and quality of protein in meat is greater than that of grain.'

The minimal loss of efficiency which does occur, he says, should be viewed as 'the price we pay for improved nutritional quality and palatability.'

Public sits with health pros on governing bodies

There are many ways of bringing health care to the people. However, the Ontario Government's recently proclaimed Health Disciplines Act is a little different in that through it the government aims to bring the people into health care.

Under the Act, the various health professions - dentistry, medicine, nursing, optometry and pharmacy to begin with (others are to be included later) - will regulate their own affairs. But from now on each of their governing bodies or Colleges will include one non-professional or more to represent the public interest.

These representatives of the general public will sit on each College's general council, and on all major committees, such as those for discipline and complaints.

In addition, there's a new, independent Health Disciplines Board composed entirely of members of the public, who have never been public servants of the province or members of any health profession.

The Board's chairman is Edward A. Pickering, former Toronto businessman and project director in 1973 of an independent study of the medical profession in Ontario.

The Board's principal function is to protect the interests of the public as well as those of health professionals. For example, it will review decisions arrived at by the various Colleges' complaints committees when either the person complaining, or the person complained about, finds the original decision unacceptable. The Board will also hear or review cases in which a health professional feels that his or her application for registration to practice has been unfairly rejected or has had too many conditions or limitations placed on it.

Besides providing for public involvement in the Colleges' committees and setting up the seven member lay Board, the Health Disciplines Act also calls for certain changes directly affecting health care practice. Optometrists, for example, provided they have the appropriate qualifications, may now use the title "doctor" (which they could not do before the Act); and regulations are included relating to conflicts of interest, posting of prescription drug prices by pharmacists, and restrictions on the practice of acupuncture.

The Health Disciplines Act is a far-reaching piece of legislation encouraging health professionals in Ontario to uphold high standards and to provide residents with a continued high quality of health care.

Anyone wishing to know more about the Health Disciplines Act and Board may read a new pamphlet entitled Serving the Public Interest, available from the Health Resource Centre Communications Branch, Ministry of Health, Hepburn Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1S2.

Choose a family doctor before you need one

The family doctor is the usual point of entry to the health care system. He can deal with an estimated 75 per cent of medical problems, referring to specialists those beyond his scope. And he looks after the whole person, - not just the part that happens to be giving trouble at any given time.

In other words, the family doctor provides comprehensive and continuing care to the individual patient within the family and community setting.

Strange then, that many people go about choosing a family doctor with less care than they would bring to selecting a plumber or a TV repairman.

How do you find a good family doctor?

Dr. W. Gifford-Jones, in his helpful book The Doctor Game, says "Don't expect your fingers to find the perfect doctor by wandering through the Yellow Pages". He also advises that it's a good idea to find a family physician before you need one.

If you're moving to a new location - and Canadians, on the average, do so once every four or five years - ask your present doctor to recommend one of his medical colleagues in the place to which you're going.

But, if you're starting from scratch - ask around in your new neighborhood. You can try the local Chapter of the College of Family Physicians, or the switch board at the nearest hospital. But remember: inquire about professional reputation. You wouldn't choose a plumber because he shares your interest in stamp collecting, goes to your church, or avidly supports the same hockey team. It's even more important to select a doctor for his ability as a doctor.

Mind you, you should try to find a family physician you can feel comfortable with; one you can talk with openly and frankly.

Once you've found that doctor, make an appointment with him as soon as possible, even if you're feeling fine. This will provide an opportunity of getting to know each other; the doctor will place on record your family health history, and, when you do need medical help, you'll be that much further ahead.

Today's family doctor works an average of 56 hours a week. No matter how important your problem may be, your physician will likely have about 2,000 patients on his books, and will be seeing 30 or more on any given day. If you want same day service, try to phone for an appointment as early as possible in the morning.

While your family doctor may be busy, he's there to serve you. Don't hesitate to call on him when you really need help. And try to seek that help as soon as possible in the course of an illness when treatment may be simpler.

Responsibility for your health rests with both you and your family doctor. Finding and keeping a good physician is one of the best investments you'll ever make.

Staying fit and trim helps prevent back trouble

In Ontario, a large number of people are putting their troubles behind them - literally.

In a province with eight million inhabitants, there are an estimated 400,000 new and recurring cases of back pain every year, and the Workmen's Compensation Board deals with some 20,000 claims annually for back problems alone.

One of Ontario's more than 200 orthopedic surgeons describes this as a vast problem - almost an epidemic. Moreover, he thinks that perhaps as much as 8 per cent of so-called low back pain is preventable.

Typically, he says, it accompanies obesity, poor posture and improper lifting. In the obese, the pot belly, with its lack of muscle tone, hangs out and pulls the spine forward in an accentuated arch.

This, added to a steadily decreasing suppleness of the spine that occurs as one gets older, sets the scene for disc problems that cause some, but not all, low back pain. Particularly susceptible to these troubles are manual workers, gardeners, and sportmen or housewives who engage in sudden movements that put strain on the spine.

Poor posture is a major factor contributing to low back pain. Ideally, people should be taught to sit and stand properly in childhood so they can benefit for a lifetime from good postural habits. It also helps to sleep on a firm mattress offering proper support to the spine. Interestingly, there is less low back pain in certain Eastern countries where people squat to talk or eat - a position that's automatically more natural to the spine than sitting in an armchair.

Lifting the wrong way is another common cause of back pain. The correct way to lift is by bending the legs and not the back. Lifting by stooping over with the arms extended can put many pounds of pressure on the spinal column, inevitably causing damage and pain.

People who wear high-heel and platform sole shoes can suffer from back pain as a result of spine arching. These people are often seen in doctors' offices and hospital emergency wards for back trouble caused in this way.

The best way to prevent back pain - which, incidentally, can be an extremely painful affliction - is to stay fit and trim and to avoid sudden strain on the spine.

For those prone to the problem, swimming is the best form of exercise because the body weight is supported, while all joints and muscles are exercised. Tennis and golf, by contrast, may aggravate the situation because they involve bending and stooping - and a twisting effect caused by swinging the club or racquet.

Persistent back pain requires assessment by a physician to determine what causes the pain, which could be a manifestation of problems other than in the spine. Problems could stem from the kidneys or other internal organs, for instance.

Also, a great deal of back trouble is related to affluence - too much food and/or too much lounging around doing nothing. People who have had gall bladder surgery, or hysterectomies, may suffer from back pain because of the poor muscle tone that often follows these operations. By doing the appropriate exercises after surgery, they may regain muscle tone. But for the most part, back pain is not only one of our commonest health problems, it's also one of the easiest to avoid, if you don't turn your back on it.

Women's Institute held October meeting

The October meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. S. Blears with 29 members and one guest present.

The president said how happy we were to be able to have this meeting in probably the oldest house in town. After the usual opening and minutes Mrs. Allan Taylor gave her report of 24 cards sent since last meeting.

Correspondence was read and resolutions were discussed and voted so our delegate could take our wishes to Area Convention.

Mrs. Allan Taylor gave a paper on Canadian Industry and she told of Plastics and their various uses.

It was moved by Mrs. Ewing seconded by Mrs. L. Cox that Mrs. W. Walker assist with card committee while Mrs. Taylor was away.

The Victoria East District Tea at Fenelon Falls Church was held on Wednesday, October 22nd, at which several members were asked to attend; five articles were donated to be sold and articles for the Craft Table were gathered up with Mrs. L. Cox and Mrs. Cowan making the sandwiches for this tea with Mrs. Burns to pay for materials.

Other lunches were arranged for International Women's Year Programme and Birthday Tea at Hyland Crest October 30th.

A gift was presented to Lil Stevens who has moved to Whitby. She replied how she had enjoyed the meetings and was glad to be with us that day.

Mrs. Blears gave a report on International Women's Year Programme stating that several members were taking part in this representing persons in this.

Meeting adjourned with God Save the Queen followed by our W.I. Grace and a very delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her helpers.

News from Dorset

Met Mike Ailles in the Emergency Ward just in time to help him shove his plaster through his jacket sleeve.

Howard Munro is happily out of the hospital and well on the road to recovery. I don't know where he found those twenty pounds to lose, but that's what I hear happened. Howard, for goodness sakes, don't go out in the wind!

Elsie Burk attended the wedding of her Granddaughter Karen Arnold to Ronald Gallant. The wedding took place in Huntsville on October 11th. Karen arranged the wedding as close as possible to the wedding anniversary. Elsie would have shared with her husband, the late Earl Burk. Elsie was presented with flowers to mark to occasion.

Barb Clark has Fall Fever. Saw her out sorting around her lawn the other day. With eyes like mine I had to get up close to see what she was doing. Those quick little movements had me worried - I was almost afraid she would whisk up the nearest tree at my approach. Then to my horror I observed a large lump in the pouch of her cheek. I had to ask what she was doing, which turned out to be just picking up some bits from the law. 'Barb - that lump -' With a thrust of her tongue she pushed the hard candy forward for my view.

A shower was held for Kerry Greenaway on Friday, October 17 at the Municipal Hall. The pretty Bride-to-be was lost in a mound of gifts and ribbons. After all the undoing and passing was completed and Mother Jean Greenaway had photographed her daughter in the traditional be-ribboned chapeau, we were served a dainty lunch.

It was interesting to note that the last item to pass around the circle was a broom and pail. The enchantment of all the fine new gifts for a new home was given the practical finale that every bride must face. I am sure that Kerry will meet the challenge.

Mary Ann Fuller visited with her parents, Sophie and Ernie Fuller, for four days before leaving for North Bay, where she hopes to find employment. Mary Ann spent several months working in the Yukon.

Al Robertson has been following me around Huntsville. Last week he came up behind me when I had my head in the trunk of Shirley Spiers' car. A hand appeared before my face, and a begging voice pleaded a dime for a cup of coffee. You can see how it is since he actually bought one. This week he tried to make off with my library books. Now he wants me to mention his seventieth birthday, which took place last Wednesday - which I certainly don't intend to do. There are some good things about him. He has good rhubarb, and he is doing a nice job driving the Nursery School children.

Workmen's compensation cheques

The Workmen's Compensation Board has again made arrangements for area cheque distribution throughout Ontario during the mail strike.

The Board will operate courier service which will deliver cheques, and collect mail, for Huntsville; Muskoka and Haliburton Counties, to The Empire Motor Hotel, 4 Centre St. S., Huntsville, Ontario.

Payments should arrive on the day that they would normally be received by mail. Claimants should telephone 789-2331 first, to ensure that their cheque has arrived. When collecting their payment, claimants will be required to produce identification showing their claim number.

The Workmen's Compensation Board sincerely regrets the inconvenience to claimants, especially to those people who will need to travel a considerable distance. With an average of 4000 cheques issued by the W.C.B. every day, it is impossible to arrange individual deliveries.

The world's record brook trout was caught by a Doctor Cook while vacationing in Nipigon in 1916. The fish weighed 14 lbs. 8 oz. and it was caught with a minnow.

Don't throw away those used, plastic coated milk cartons. They can be used for feeding pets, watering plants (the pouring spout is ideal), for carrying cut flowers or as a litter box for the car.

Grant payment and tax collections during the mail strike

Arthur Meem, Minister of Revenue announced today that the Ministry has set up procedures to minimize hardships - the mail strike may cause people expecting the Ministry of Revenue payments.

"We have over 272,000 pensioners expecting their Gains cheques by the 15th of November," Mr. Meems' said. "We are also concerned that cheques are issued promptly to the 2,000 or so people who qualify each week for their first $1,000 installment of the Home Buyers Grant and Sales Tax Rebate on the purchase of new cars amount to another 6,000 cheques a week. So, a lot of people are depending on us to help them furnish their new homes and, in many cases, meet their normal living expenses. I've told my staff to do everything possible to ensure this money gets to these people. Therefore, we have set up an alternate delivery service through the Ministry of Revenue District Retail Sales Tax Offices, Regional Assessment Offices and branches of the Province of Ontario Savings Office.

"Incidentally, tax payments must be filed on time and we have made arrangements for these remittances, as well as other Ministry mail to be left at any of our offices. I would appreciate co-operation from the Media in passing on our plans to their listeners and readers."

INQUIRIES
Further inquiries regarding these procedures may be made at local Retail Sales Tax District Offices, Regional Assessment Offices or any branch of the Province of Ontario Savings office. Please consult your local telephone directory for the location of the nearest office.

PAYMENTS TO INDIVIDUALS

GAINS
The Ministry ensured that the October cheques to gain pensioners were delivered before the mail strike. We are currently finalizing plans for distribution of November cheques. Information, concerning distribution of these cheques will be released by November 15th.

HOME BUYERS GRANT
Home Buyers Grant Application forms can be dropped off at any Ministry of Revenue Office. When the grant has been approved, the Ministry will tell recipients by telephone where to pick up their cheques.

NEW CAR REBATES
Application forms for Retail Sales Tax Rebate on the purchase of new cars will be completed at the car dealership as usual. Arrangements will be made to have these forms delivered directly to the Ministry of Revenue. We are seeking the co-operation of dealers by arranging to return cheques to dealers for pickup by applicants. In those instances where the above arrangements are inconvenient, the Ministry will contact the applicant by telephone.

TAX RETURNS AND PAYMENTS
Returns and Payments for Retail Sales Tax, Fuel Tax,

Corporation Tax and Succession Duty may be delivered to any of the Ministry of Revenue Offices mentioned above, or any other Ontario Government Office if no Revenue Office is in your municipality.

Metric cars by 1977

Starting Sept. 1st, 1977, all cars manufactured for sale in Canada must have metric odometers and trip record counters. January 1 is the target date for speedometers in dual or metric units.

Similarly, all motorcycles manufactured after Sept. 1 for sale in Canada should have speedometers calibrated in kilometres per hour and odometers and trip record counters calibrated in kilometres.

The change date is timed to coincide with a scheduled provincial conversion of all highway signs to exclusively metric units, according to federal transport ministry officials.

The highway sign changes have already started in some areas of Canada and some cars already sold in Canada feature dual calibrated speedometers, reading both miles per hour and kilometres per hour and kilometres per hour.

An official of the federal transport ministry said he expects some 1978 model cars manufactured before Sept. 1, 1977 and sold early in the fall of 1977 will already have instrumentation converted to metric units.

The changes are set out in just-published amendments to the Motor Vehicle Safety regulations and should not result in increased cost to the consumer.

Gems of Truth

SUFFICIENT GRACE
One of the issues that is disturbing the Christian Church today is the question of miraculous physical healing. The Church is especially concerned about the possession and exercise of the gift of healing mentioned in the New Test. and exercised by the Apostles of the early Church. 1 Cor. 12:9,28,30, Acts 3:1-11.

Actually, very few, if any, Bible believing Christians doubt that God can and does heal today in answer to prayer. However, many believe that the gift of healing was the visible proof that the Lord Jesus had risen from the grave and was living again among His believers. Such a testimony was more necessary in this period of time, as the New Testament was not in written form with all the evidence of the Living Lord established.

The experience of the Apostle Paul seems to indicate that miraculous physical healings are in the hands of our Sovereign Lord according to His purpose and will. Paul certainly possessed and exercised the gift of healing, Acts 14:8-10, 19:11-12, 20: 9-10,12, 28: 3-6, 8-9, yet he lived with a bodily affliction which was not removed. For the removal of this "Thorn in the flesh" as he called it, he appealed to the Lord three times, yet his prayer was not answered. 2 Cor. 12: 7-8. The exact nature of Paul's problem is unknown, but he unquestionably had the desire and faith to be healed. However, the Lord Jehovah saw fit not to heal him, which creates a real problem for those we teach that physical healing has been provided by Christ in the atonement.

It can be argued that God had special reasons for not healing Paul, and this is quite reasonable. Paul himself stated that his "thorn" was given to deal with his tendency to boast and thus to keep him humble. 11 Cor. 12:7. Also, God purposed to display His grace and power through Paul's ailment and weakness, verse nine allows this. Physical healing, even in the Apostolic days, was finally in the sovereign purpose and will of God.

Not only was Paul unable to secure healing for himself, but he also could not provide healing for a number of his companions even though he had the gift of healing. In 11 Timothy 4:20 Paul tells us how he had left Trophimus sick at Miletum. Also, to Timothy he gave the advice to use a little wine for his stomach's sake and his oft infirmities 1 Timothy 5:23. Neither of these men were healed and Paul is not ashamed to tell us so. Another close friend of Paul was sick for a long time, even "nigh unto death" and God saw fit to heal him again, but it was not through the gift of healing that Paul was endowed with. Phil. 2:27.

From his physical affliction, Paul learned two lessons that every Christian should learn. The first is the reality that "God's grace is sufficient for thee" 11 Cor. 12:9. Failure to be healed does not mean that the Lord has forsaken us or that we are too unbelieving or too sinful to merit healing. Contrarywise, it means that God is closer and more real to the one that is receiving His sustaining grace in every need. He helps us to endure and carry on. This is how His strength is made perfect in weakness. He is the all-sufficient One and His grace is still sufficient for all our needs. Let us carry on!

Many unemployed in Haliburton Village?

Those big line-ups in front of Frank Hodgsons Insurance Office in Haliburton every Friday doesn't mean that Frank has a sale on Insurance.

Unemployment Insurance Canada has made emergency arrangements to get the UIC benefit cheques to claimants during the current mail interruptions.

These line-ups on Fridays, makes one realize just how many people are drawing Unemployment Insurance in this area.

What we can't understand is with all the work going on in the area and people crying for help, why we have so many people on Unemployment Insurance and welfare.

First prescribed burn to improve deer range

On Thursday, September 9th the first Bracebridge District prescribed burn for the improvement of summer deer range was carried out in Shelborne Township.

Making use of such natural fire breaks as creeks and lake shores it was still necessary to lay several thousand feet of hose to insure that the fire would be contained at roughly 250 acres in size. Ignition took place at approximately 12:30 p.m. and fanned by brisk south easterly winds most of the area had been burned by 4:00 p.m.

While the burn was carried out at the request of the Fish & Wildlife Branch and was supervised by the Forest Protection Branch, the most gratifying aspect of the project was the interest and assistance provided by other branches. Timber technicians, Conservation Officers, foresters, Lands technicians and even the District Manager all pitched in to carry hose and man the fire lines. Who said integration is dead?

Only time will tell whether or not the fire has accomplished the purpose for which it was intended. Much of the range in the Bracebridge District has reached the stage of maturity at which it is no longer of value to deer. Clearings and open fields are becoming overgrown with bracken, alders and willows. Previously young mixed stands of aspen and soft maple under which abundant deer food was found, have matured to become stands of aspen and soft maple under which stands of tolerant hardwoods effectively shade the forest floor so that food plants useful to deer cannot survive.

The intent of this controlled burn was to set forest succession in a stand of poor quality timber back to the stage at which it could once again provide useful deer range. Ideally the fire will have burned hot enough to kill the tops of the tree species such as red and striped maple, white birch and poplar but not hot enough to kill the roots - thus stimulating coppice growth.

The fire site will be revisited at frequent intervals during the summer of 1976 in order to assess the exact effects of this, our first deer range burn. In the meantime though, plans are now under way to carry out as many as three controlled burns at various locations in the District in the spring of 1976.

Metric seminar for Haliburton on Dec. 3

The Haliburton County Economic Development Commission have finalized arrangements with the Federal Metric Commission to conduct a Metric Seminar in the gymnasium of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on Wednesday, December 3rd at 8:00 p.m.

Whether we feel strongly against the Metric system, or feel that it is being imposed on us too quickly, the fact is, it is here to stay and its use will increase rapidly in the near future. In order to make proper use of the metric system, everyone should take advantage in attending this free seminar and also get the handout information that will be available. Whether you are a student, a mechanic, a professional, a trucker, a municipal employee, a labourer, a housewife, or whatever your endeavour, the Metric System will in some way change your everyday lives. Plan now, to attend this important Seminar.

Our County Economic Development Commission is most pleased that the Chairman of the Metric Commission, Mr. Stevenson M. Gossage of Ottawa, will be here to conduct the Seminar.

Mr. Gossage received his B.Sc. Eng. degree from the University of London, England in 1926, and his M.S. in Transportation from Yale University in 1934.

Prior to assuming his present position, Mr. Gossage served the Canadian Pacific Railway from 1926 - 1971. He was Regional Vice-President from 1958 to 1964, and as Vice-President of Company Services from 1964-1966. He also served with Canadian Pacific Limited as Vice-President, Director, and Senior Executive Officer from 1966 to 1971.

He is currently responsible for preparation of a coherent plan for the adoption of metric units of measurement in Canada which will achieve the conversion at minimum cost to the economy, consistent with maximizing benefits. He is also responsible for co-ordinating the introduction of such a plan with particular emphasis on public education and information.

Mr. Gossage is a former President of the American Association of Railroad Superintendents, and Former Chairman of the Montreal Personnel Association. He is also, a trustee of Bishop's University.

Urgent demand for game hides and deer jaws

Again this year, the Ministry of Natural Resources is collecting deer and moose hides to promote the Indian Handicraft Industry in Ontario. The Ministry has set up receiving depots throughout the Province where hunters may donate their deer and moose hides. In Algonquin Region, these depots are located at District Offices in Parry Sound, Bracebridge, Minden, Bancroft, Algonquin Park (Whitney), and Pembroke.

According to Indian Bands a large supply of hides is urgently needed to meet the heavy demand for Native Handicrafts. Hunters are urged to participate, both to promote the preservation of the Indian Culture, and to assure the Indian Bands of a vital source of income.

The Ministry of Natural Resources, after collecting the hides, sends them to tanneries for processing. The hides are then dispatched to the Federal Department of Indian Affairs which in turn distributes them to the various Indian Bands throughout the Province.

To promote the collection of deer and moose hides, the Ministry of Natural Resources will award co-operating hunters bush caps complete with emblems signifying their co-operation in the hide collection programs. These caps will be available at all Ministry Hide Collection Depots.

Deer Hunters are requested to turn in the lower jaws of their deer to the nearest office of the Ministry of Natural Resources. The jaw should be labelled to show sex, date of kill, and Township in which taken.

In the continuing program of deer management, it has become necessary to secure a large series of deer jaws to order to determine distribution of herds, and to accurately determine age groups.

In appreciation, hunters will receive a crest signifying their co-operation in this very essential work.

For further information please, Contact Local District Office or R.S. Beagan, Regional Information Officer, Algonquin Region, Huntsville - Telephone 705-789-9611.

Good hunting safety

Once again Hunting Season is here. The Community Services Branch of the Ontario Provincial Police remind you that there are several basic gun-handling rules.

Hunting accidents claim about 125 lives each year, usually because the most simple rules have been broken.

What can you do?

Never consume alcohol before, or during a hunt.

Know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.

Never shoot in the direction of buildings or livestock.

You cannot depend on the common sense of the hunter beside you - wear bright orange.

The handling of firearms requires great care.

Always hand a gun as if it were loaded.

Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded firearm.

Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle.

Unattended fire arms should always be unloaded.

Few hunting deaths are accidents, they are usually caused by negligence. So keep crime prevention in mind. The criminal code provides a stiff penalty for this offence. Don't be at either end of an "accident", use these common sense measures and enjoy a safe hunting trip.

Haliburton Chamber of Commerce news

A tip of the hat this week to Haliburton and Minden Post Offices, who have managed to get at least local mail distributed from both villages with the co-operation of the route drivers.

We have more new people to welcome to our business community. Denis and Rebeca Thurlow took over the Carnarvon Gift Centre this past summer. They are very interested in promoting local crafts and would be anxious to talk to anyone that can help in this regard. Dale Oldham now operates Dale's Texaco at Gooderham (formerly McDuffs) and are now new members. Don Wolfram is presently renovating the former location of Highland T.V. in Minden and will soon open the Printcraft Book Co. in that location, selling books and stationary. Keith Prior has just opened his second Arrow T.V. store - this one in Minden. We did lose one popular business this week however, as Rick Poole closed his variety store in Haliburton. Rick hasn't announced his plans yet, and we certainly hope he stays in town. Word is that Haliburton is finally going to have it's own Drug Store at Poole's former location.

Details are now being finalized for the "Chamber of Commerce Grey Cup Dance" at Deer Lodge on November 22nd. Advance tickets can now be purchased at $5.00 per couple at the following locations: Mike's Milk - Haliburton and Minden, Mr. Fogg's Restaurant - Carnarvon, Agnew's General Store - Wilberforce, and Barr's Store - Gooderham. Music is being provided by Summer Fantasy.

We must limit the quantity of tickets to be sold so we suggest you get your tickets early.

The many friends of Norm Craig, who tended shop here at the Chamber of Commerce for many years, will be interested to know we dropped in on him last week. Norm looked quite well and was pleased to see that the Chamber was moving full steam ahead once again. He asked that his greetings be passed along to his many old friends.

After many weeks of postponing the deadlines on copy for the "Lure Book" we are now down to the final week. Anyone still wishing to advertise in this fine publication - at $10.00 and up - please contact us immediately, or it will be too late. This will certainly be the biggest and the best booklet put out by the Chamber to date.

LATE FLASH - We have just been informed that Haliburton is now officially "Back on the Map". The ministry of Industry and Tourism have just published 100,000 new Traveller's Encyclopaedia of Ontario booklets including Haliburton. This issue replaces the publication that omitted Haliburton last spring and in addition to this the new issue for this spring is now being planned to include three more pages of copy for the Central Ontario Area.

McPHAIL - In loving memory of a dear father, Norman C. McPhail who passed away October 31, 1974.

One sad and lonely year has passed
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that day.

No one will ever tell
God gave us the strength to meet it

And the courage to bear the blow

But it took all our united strength

To stand by and watch you go!

It's lonely here now without you.

We miss you more each day.

For life is not the same to us

Since you were called away.

Your memory is our greatest treasure

Loving - you always, forgetting you never!

Please Father, forgive a silent tear.

In 1890 a lady in Calgary invented a mechanical skirt lifter designed to raise her hem ever so discretely as she crossed the then muddy and dusty streets of that city. Unfortunately the modern mini skirt seems to have driven this particular invention from the market.
